

Investment Policy

The Swiss Strategie – dynamisch fund seeks to generate a balanced and continuous return while preserving the value of the capital invested in real terms. The Swiss Strategie – dynamisch fund is an actively managed, balanced fund. Assets are invested in tradable bonds, equities, money market investments and, where appropriate, in precious metals, with priority given to investment quality. The Fund's investments are of a medium to long-term character.

Fund manager commentary

After the profit-taking last month, the markets we monitor experienced a pleasing development. In particular, the SMI stood out with an advance of over 6.57%. The German DAX Index also gained 3.13%, and the Dow Jones climbed by 2.30%. The EuroSTOXX 50 recorded an increase of 1.15%. Only the Nikkei Index lagged somewhat behind, closing just 0.28% higher.

The yield on the 10-year bonds of the Swiss Confederation increased from 0.7% to 0.84%. The yield on the German Bund also rose from 2.58% to 2.65%. Conversely, the yield on the 10-year US Treasury slightly decreased from 4.63% to 4.57%.

The Euro and the US-Dollar each traded slightly lower against the Swiss franc, closing at 0.9792 and 0.9012 respectively.

The price of gold continued to increase to US$ 2'32.80/oz. The price per barrel of oil decreased by 7.92% to US$ 88.87.

The entire position in PayPal and partially in Arysza were sold with profit.

The monthly performance of our fund in CHF amounted plus 2,19% The performance of the tranche traded in euros was plus 2.25%.

*Performance calculated according to the BVI method, ie excluding issuing commission. The costs incurred at Fund level (eg the management fee) are included. Specific costs, such as custody fees, commissions and other charges, are not included at client level; if they were included they would detract from performance. Any issuing commission incurred reduces the capital invested and performance indicated.

** Net performance: In addition to the costs taken into account in the Fund, the costs incurred by the client in the case of an investment of EUR 1,000, for example, are included: One-time issuing commission on the unit price upon purchase 0.00%. Note: The investor was not invoiced any issuing commission although the sales prospectus lists a maximum issuing commission of 6.00%.

*** Gross performance (BVI method) takes no other costs (eg issuing commission and custody fees) into account in addition to the costs already incurred in the Fund (eg management fee).

Opportunities and Risks

Opportunities

Financial market opportunities:

The Fund may participate significantly in the success of companies via investments in equities and bonds. It can capitalise on market overreactions and by doing so hold equities and bonds up to their fair values. Additional opportunities result from flexible asset allocation in which the Fund can be overweighted or underweighted in equities, bonds or cash, depending on market conditions.

Opportunities arising from the use of derivatives:

The Fund may use derivative transactions to minimise certain risks, such as currency fluctuations, but also benefits disproportionately through the leverage effects from market trends and price rises/losses.

Opportunities arising from corporate analyses and expertise:

The Fund's seasoned management professionals can identify attractive, listed small and medium caps. Our portfolio managers attach importance to a special fundamental analysis of the companies to be purchased, reviewing company balance sheets, their executive management, sector expertise and unique selling points.

Risks

Financial market risks:

The Fund may invest part of its assets in bonds and equities. Companies may become insolvent, whereby bonds and/or equities may lose part or all of their value. Geopolitical and macroeconomic factors may lead to increased volatility and losses.

Risks arising from the use of derivatives:

The Fund may use derivative transactions to hedge against equity, bond, interest rate and currency risks. The opportunities associated with the use of derivatives are accompanied by increased risk of loss and may significantly reduce the Fund's profit-making opportunities.

Operational risks:

The Fund may become victim to fraud or other criminal acts. The Fund may be damaged by errors committed by staff of the investment company or external third parties or by external events such as natural catastrophes, war or changes in legislation. Assets that are held abroad may be subject to the risk of loss arising from insolvency, breach of duty of care or misconduct on the part of the custodian or of a sub-custodian.
